

Bosoar Stone

A beautiful space featuring benchtops from Bosoar Stone

The reconstituted stone featured here is CaesarStone Osprey from Bosoar Stone. Complete with 40mm square edges, the crisp-white benchtops complement the stainless-steel appliances and eclectic wooden and tiled floor.

When renovating or building, selecting your stone will set the tone for the rest of the space. CaesarStone's quartz surfaces are scratch- and stain-resistant making them extremely durable. The product is so hard-wearing that it doesn't even require sealing, making it the perfect material for the benchtops in a family home. Pictured here, at the end of the main island bench in two big slabs, the stone appears stylish and sophisticated giving the kitchen instant glamour.

Bosoar Stone specialises in all natural and engineering materials. Providing excellent workmanship and competitive pricing, the company will take on jobs of all sizes. Bosoar Stone also guarantees prompt, reliable, professional service and is extremely flexible to suit your installation schedule.

Whether you require stone for you benchtops, vanities, flooring or something entirely different, the Bosoar Stone team is confident in satisfying every need.
